Time                  | Tu + Th               | 4:00pm - 5:50pm
Location             | Lawrence Hall, Room 166
Credits              | 4
Instructor           | Mark R. Eischeid
                     | Department of Landscape Architecture
                     | Lawrence Hall, Room 216
                     | marke@uoregon.edu
GTF                   | Jamie Willeke
Course Description   | The first in a sequence of two classes covering the history of landscape architecture, this class explores the history and theory of the designed landscape from the beginnings of human settlement to the 19th century. Lectures, readings, projects, and essays will address the expression of various cultural themes and ideas at a range of scales, from the garden to the city, leading to a critical and literate appreciation of the designed landscape.

(Note: This class was listed as ArH 477/577 prior to 2015.)
None. Open to all undergraduate and graduate students in all departments.

This class is required for BLA and MLA (First Professional MLA) students. The class also fulfills the Group I Architectural History requirement for B.Arch. students.

Landscape Architecture students are required to take the class for a letter grade. All other students may take the class for a letter grade or as Pass/No Pass.

Class meeting times are primarily structured around lectures, group discussions, and occasional guest presentations. Outside of class time, students are required to analytically review and take weekly quizzes on selected readings and to complete assigned projects.

By the end of this course, you will have:
1. Understood that landscape design is a cultural expression situated in time and place.
2. Understood the difference between, and demonstrated proficiency in, historiographic description and interpretation.
3. Demonstrated verbal and written skills for thoughtfully critical analysis of the designed landscape.

The following is the required textbook for this class:

The textbook is available from The Duck Store bookstore. A copy will be available on reserve at the A&AA library.